JOURNEY TO GREECE & THE GREEK ISLANDS

Discoveries from the Ancient Past to the Present

With Professor of Classical Studies, Emeritus,
WALTER ENGLERT

October 9—19, 2022

Greetings!

I'm thrilled to be leading the Reed Alumni trip, "Journey to Greece & the Greek Islands." Ancient Greece has played a central role in the intellectual life of Reedies, especially over the past 70+ years in Humanities 110.

Greece's long history, the remarkable achievements of its inhabitants, its evocative ancient monuments, and the spectacular beauty of its landscape make it an unforgettable travel destination. The modern world owes a great debt to ancient Greece. Greek poleis (city-states), in productive contact and competition with non-Greek cities and empires, developed various forms of government (including democracy), Greek art and architecture, and the genres of Greek epic poetry, lyric poetry, tragedy, comedy, history, and philosophy.

But Greece is not only about the achievements of its ancient past. Modern travelers to the country encounter a place of great beauty, a luminous sky, a deep blue and shimmering sea, people for whom hospitality is almost a sacred duty, and a cuisine that relies on local fresh and healthful ingredients.

This tour of Greece has been designed to highlight its ancient past and contemporary beauty. I invite you to peruse the itinerary in the following pages and I look forward to exploring ancient and modern Greece with you on this amazing trip!

Yours,

Walter D Englert

most important center of the Mycenaean civilization that flourished during the Bronze Age (second millennium BC), and home of Agamemnon, the Greek leader of the fabled Trojan War. Continue to Epidauros, the shrine dedicated to Aesculapius, the god of healing. The site is famous for its incredible 4th-century BC theater, known for its perfect acoustics and harmonious proportions. In the afternoon, drive along the shore of the Athenian Riviera to Sounion to visit the Temple of Poseidon, magnificently set above the sea. ATHENS / DELPHI / ATHENS

Leave Athens in the morning for Delphi, passing on the way through the traditional village of Arachova. One of the most impressive sites in Greece, Delphi stands on high ground and is surrounded by towering mountains split by a ravine. This place of savage beauty has been sacred from the earliest times. Steam and fumes emerge from cracks and crannies in the rocks giving the region an awesome majesty that perhaps inspired the building of the fabled shrines starting in the 7th century BC. Here, a priestess would render the oracles to those anxious to know the future. Explore the site, including the Sacred Way, the Treasury of the Athenians and the Temple of Apollo. Also, visit the Museum, which houses the famous bronze

ATHENS / PAROS

This morning take a short flight to Paros. On arrival, transfer to the Hotel Paros Bay, located near the beach. One of the loveliest of the Greek islands, situated in the middle of the Aegean Sea, Paros is known for its characteristic white-washed architecture, serene landscape, old villages and chapels, picturesque fishing harbors and inviting beaches and coves. It is also the source of one of the world's finest marble, favored by the greatest sculptors of antiquity. Enjoy dinner at an island taverna.

Meals: B, D

Sunday, October 16th

PAROS / SANTORINI / PAROS

Leave Paros in the morning to cruise in the blue Aegean Sea to Santorini, perhaps the most spectacular island in the Mediterranean. Be on deck as the ship approaches the island to admire the impressive volcanic landscape and the island's main town, Phira, perched on the 1,000-foot-high caldera. In the Bronze Age, the island was a flourishing trading center inhabited by a sophisticated society. In the late 17th century BC, a massive volcanic eruption collapsed half of the island and buried its main town in a thick layer of ash and pumice, preserving its houses, streets and squares as they existed 3,700 years ago. Today, the site, called Akrotiri, is one of the world's most important archaeological sites. We will visit Akrotiri upon arrival, and also have time to explore Phira and marvel at the incredible views. Lunch at a restaurant specializing in the cuisine of the island.

Meals: B, L

Delos, sail to nearby Mykonos, the quintessential Cycladic island, known for its cosmopolitan atmosphere and smart shops and cafes. Enjoy lunch in Mykonos and spend time at leisure to discover Mykonos on your own before sailing back to Paros.
